Wood County Leads.

President Frank Powell of the Wood county Agricultural society showed the JOURNAL the exhibit of the Western agriculturists from Oklahoma and Texas. These western fellows thought they had something that would knock Wood county exhibits out, but a comparison of the products demonstrated the fact that Wood county was way ahead.
The ears of home grown corn being three inches longer and weighing about a third more than the Western corn. Mr. Powell was highly elated with the fact that Wood county is still in the lead.
